SOURCE

During the month of February 1952, the SAG-Geraetebau Wetzell, Leipzig W-31, produced 85 heavy gears. These were not shipped to the Soviet Union like previous production, but to Krupp-Gruson at Magdeburg and to Kirchmoeser. The gears are like those manufactured in 1951: helical gears with 30-40 teeth, large gears with 100-120 teeth. In the current production (month of March) gears are again being made like those manufactured during the war for armored personnel cars. Gears are also assembled here that come from the VEB-Maschinenfabrik Gotha; these appear to be gears for heavy tanks. The steel comes from the Soviet Union. Worms for the gears are being delivered lately by the VVB Abus-Werk, at Dessau. The Wetzell works is also delivering separate parts of giant gears for assembly by Unruh and Liebig.* Parts for three gears were delivered during February. They are tested under very high temperatures.

Comment: Unruh u. Liebig, (SAG Transmasch), Leipzig.
